An opossum has been spotted looking a tad confused as it entered its new tropical house at a zoo in Odense, Germany.

The opossum looks either confused, incensed or incredulous - or perhaps a combination of all three.

Given the creature's crazed expression, one can only imagine what scenes it is viewing from the ramp it is perched on, presumably bleakness of Dostoevskian proportions.

The marsupial's bewilderment can perhaps be forgiven though, as it was being moved to a new tropical house in the zoo and was out of its comfort zone.
